A Chinese scholar in San Francisco claims that the Celestials discovered this country fourteen hundred years ago. We don't think the fact, if it is one, reflects any particular credit on the Chinese. If they discovered America fourteen hundred years ago, it has taken them ever since to find it out.

WHY ARE SEEDLING PEACHES MORE HARDY THAN THE FINE BUDDED KINDS?-It has been a settled opinion for some years that seedling peaches as a general thing are more hardy than the budded kinds. Probably the difference was never so visible as at the present season, when the seedling trees are covered with blooms, while the finer kinds, in some places, have not a single fruit bud. This question has been frequently discussed, and many persons recommend the growth of seedling trees only for the purpose of securing hardy growth. Will this secure the end in view, and does budding effect the business has grown to be one of as much importhe tree in its ability to stand vicissitudes of cli- tance as any in our city. The enterprise and artistic mate? It is well known that the tendency of seedlings is to return to the original condition of the tree before it was modified by cultivation. If we plant the seed of a fine peach it may give us a still finer one. It is far more likely to produce an inferior one, and this rule is so general that men who have paid much attention to the growth of seedlings, with a view to improvement of fruit, have discovered certain characteristics in the seedling, in the first season of its growth, by which they can determine the character of the fruit it will produce with anuch certainty that they only save those plants which possess the required characteristics and which promise to be valuable. All of these characteristics may be understood by but few, but the general marks of superiority are so evident that the merest tyro must have observed them, and these marks throw some light upon the question at the beginning of this article. We say that the merest tyro could select from a bed of seedlings those most likely to produce good fruit, because all who have paid the least attention to the matter have observed that a tree which produces vigorous blunt-ended twigs and large, broad leaves will produce larger and better fruit than one with small, feeble shoots, small, thin leaves, and general delicacy of constitu-

This very indication of superior vigor may be the canse of its lack of hardiness, and most likely it is, because as the leaves are larger and more fleshy they can elaborate more sap, and are less liable to in the city. The Louisville Guards is now thoroughhave their functions stopped by the dry heat of summer; consequently, they continue to grow later in the season. This growth is also rapid in proportion to the size of the leaf; hence the wood growth of these large vigorous trees is less matured at the close of the growing season or the beginning of winter than the trees which with their thin small leaves have made but little growth comparatively. It will readily be seen that in a severe winter like the past, the larger sneculent growth, which characterizes the wood as well as the fruit of the best seed- chivalry of Kentucky. lings, would be most likely to suffer from the extreme cold. Now all the fine varieties of fruit we cultivate were once seedlings, and we have no account of any change of the characteristics of the tree; on the contrary, a good description of any known fruit tree a century old is true of it at the present day. From these facts, then, we argue that cept so far as the health and vigor of the stock may affect its longevity. The reason that our budded peaches are more tender than common seedlings is that they as seedlings were constitutionally more vigorous and consequently did not so completely and twine.

ripen their wood. We believe, therefore, that if we depend on seedlings for fruit we must either be content with inferior fruit or make choice of those which are less hardy than the large majority produced, or in other words, that a seedling peach tree which will produce as large and fine a fruit as the Catharine or Old Mixon will be as liable to be winter-killed as those varieties. Indeed we should expect buds taken from such a seedling and inserted in a common stock to be more hardy than the parent tree, just in proportion to the check it should receive by being dependent on the roots of a less vigorous

JEFFERSON CIRCUIT COURT-May 25 .- Indictnents .- This morning the Grand Jury returned indictments against the Judge of the County Court and the Justices of the Peace for the county of Jefferson, for failing to erect and keep in repair a suitable building for a Court House in the county of Jefferson.

City of Louisville, for failing to repair the bridge at the head of Broadway, across Beargrass creek. Dennis Francois, tippling house; Solomon Barnes, disorderly house; Cab Miller, assault on Bastian Hamling; Andrew Zimmerman, obtaining property under false pretenses; Louis Beale, for killing Joseph Roth; Charles Richardson, forgery; Richard Edwards, larceny; George, Jack, William, and William, slaves, for arson.

Coal Inspectorship .- The case of George F. Miller vs. the City of Louisville, petitioning for a writ of prohibition against the Judge of the City Court, preventing him from imposing fines upon said Miller for inspecting coal, was very ably and thoroughly argued by Judge Pirtle for the city, and James Speed for Miller. Judge Bullock delivered a lucid opinion, overruling the petition, and deciding very clearly against the right of Miller to inspect coal.

Col. Andrew Monroe, of the City Council, also ap peared in behalf oft he city.

Mr. Speed gave notice of his intention of taking an appeal, and Mr. Miller gave security in $1,000.

FINE SPECIMENS OF LITHOGRAPHY .- Hart, Mapother, & Co., successors to Robyn & Co., lithographers, corner of Third and Market streets, have shown us some very fine specimens of their engraved checks, bills of exchange, &c. The gentlemen now conducting this extensive establishment were partners in the late firm, and, under their management, taste exhibited in all their works convince us that they are entitled to the support of our citizens. We recommend merchants and book-keepers requiring checks on the various banks, bills of exchange, bill heads, &c., to call and examine their specimens. Mr. Hart leaves for the East to-day in order to examine all recent improvements in lithographing, determined that their establishment, in completeness and style of work, shall be second to none in the INDICTMENT AGAINST THE COUNTY COURT .- Yesterday the Grand Jury returned a bill indicting the Judge of the County Court, and the different magistrates of the county, for failing to provide suitable buildings for the use of the courts and officers of the county.

We trust that this action on the part of the Grand Jury will have the desired effect. Our present county building, called by courtesy a court-house, but which would be more properly called an Egyptian ruin, is a positive disgrace to the city-an eyesore to the community-inconvenient, unhealthy, besides being in fact unsightly and unbecoming.

The county authorities will now be compelled to take some steps toward furnishing a proper edifice for the use of the officials and the transaction of public husiness

MILITARY MEETING .- We are happy to record the increased military spirit that is being manifested ly organized, and a new company has just been formed, composed of more than one hundred of our very best young men.

There will be a meeting on Thursday night, a the Lafayette Engine House, of those persons in the upper wards favorable to a military organization. It is very desirable that there should be a full attendance. We have every reason to believe that our gallant friends in that section of the city will organize a company that will reflect credit upon the Police Proceedings-Monday, May 25 .-Charles Winters, who has become very famous in the police annals, assaulted a couple of Irishmen on Sunday, giving them the very blackest eyes and the most wo-begone conntenances. He was required to give bail in $200 to answer.

The license question was again presented and the cases continued.

PORTLAND TELEGRAPH LINE. Office at Portland, Delime's Drug Store, on the wharf.
Office at Shippingport, in the Canal Office. Office at Louisville, Durrett's Clothing Store, corner Fourth and Water streets,

The river was falling pretty fast yesterday. Last evening there were 6 feet 2 inches water over the rocks on the falls.

Capt. Dryden took the Hartford City twice over the falls yesterday with tows of flatboats laden with lumber and iron, and returned with her through the Indiana chute. Both trips down and back were performed in 31/2 hours. This is considered a great feat. For New Orleans .- The elegant steamer Baltic will leave for New Orleans this evening. The B.'s accommodations are unsurpassed. Capt. Meekin is a kind and careful officer, and Mr. Geo. P. Jouett, her clerk, is an accomplished gentleman. The Baltic arrived last evening and we are indebted to her for the latest dates.

For St. Louis .- The High-Flyer is the packet for St. Louis to-day. She is a fine boat and one of the most popular on the river. Capt. Wright and Mr. Halliday make it their particular business to render all around them comfortable and pleasant.

For Henderson.-The Statesman leaves the city wharf punctually at 3 o'clock to-day.

The Jacob Strader is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day and the Emma Dean is the Carrollton packet. The clerk of the latter has our thanks for a copy of the manifest.

The Empress, Capt Sturgeon, left New Orleans last evening for this port. She will leave this port next Tuesday.

The steamer Prairie City went over the falls yesterday without a pilot. She swung around and went down broadside a part of the way, but got over safe-Rather a dangerous experiment.

VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT AND TEXAS RAILROAD The Vicksburg Times says the track-laying on this road is going forward in good style. The iron on hand will reach the sixteenth mile, and more is mo mentarily expected, sufficient to continue to Rich mond, twenty miles. The contractors are laying nearly one mile a week. If the company can secur iron for twenty miles more, it can be laid down by the 1st of October next, in full time to bring out the growing crop from the Bayon Macon.

THE CITY INDICTED.—It will be seen by refernce to our report of the Circuit Court proceedings that the Grand Jury has returned a true bill against the city for failing to keep the Broadway bridge in repair. We understand that the City Council, six months ago, authorised the Mayor to contract for rebuilding this important structure. It should be atended to immediately.

The Insane Asylum at Indianapolis having been closed, the patients have been returned to the various counties. There are now three confined in the New Albany jail, which is described as worse than the Black Hole of Calcutta.

The alarm of fire yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock originated in the partial burning of the stahle of Mr. Smith, on Third street, between Chestnut and Broadway.

A German named John Miller was arrested yesterday for stealing lumber from Capt. Knapp .-Two men were also arrested for passing counterfeit

LATER FROM FLORIDA.—Skirmishes with the Indians .- From the Tampa Peninsular of the 9th inst., we extract the following particulars of recent skirmishes with the Indians in southern Florida:

The nearest point from which water could be obtained being about three-quarters of a mile, the men were compelled to convey it in barrels. It had been customary for four men to carry the barrel, while six others accompanied them as a guard.

On the 22d ult., while approaching the well, they were cut off from the camp and fired on by a consid-erable number of Indians. Privates Siler, company B, and Springer, of company E, were killed; privates Haner, company E, severely, and Wolf, company B, slightly wounded. Three of the remainder pany B, slightly wounded. Three of the remainder threw away their arms, while the rest made a good retreat. The camp was then fortilied by a breastwork constructed of barrels. While this work was going on, the Indians showed themselves, and dared the soldiers to a fair fight. The soldiers went out, and the Indians retired to a har mock. The savages were led by a negro, who was dressed in the full costume of a chief; he and several others could speak very good English, and were not very choice in the epithets they applied to the whites. Sixteen Indians were counted, and from the signs, it was supposed there were as many more. They

In accordance with his instructions, Lieut. H. re-

WHICH ARE THE BEST ROSES?—By Robert Buist, Phil.—The above question is frequently proposed, and is much more concise than any reply that can be given. We would say that there are none supremely beautiful, if they are not abundantly sup-plied with free soil, well incorporated with rich ma-terial, such as decayed leaves, old decayed manure terial, such as decayed leaves, old decayed manurefrom the piggery or barnyard; or where there is a deficiency of these, rich water, twice a week, must be applied. "What is rich water?" There arises another question. If you will not consider me too tedious, I will give you in detail how it is manufaced. I have a half cask, containing about 30 gallons of water, into which I put 6 lbs. of guano, half a bushel of horse droppings, or a peck of chicken manure; either of these, just as convenience suggests. I allow the portion selected to remain in the tub 24 hours, when it is stirred up, and from which I give my select plants a copious watering twice a week from May until the middle of June. The soil round the plants must be frequently stirred, and kept clean, and properly cared for, neatly tied up, and, when in bloom, shaded from sunshine. Such is the treatment bestowed on the finer and rarer sorts.

We are confident that there are 700 varieties caltivated in the United States, and we are also confident that 100 would embrace every color among them, placing entirely in the shade many of the so called new sorts. Permit me to hand you for pub-lication a few from each section of the perpetual or semi-perpetual blooming verieties.

The Punish Family.—If the farmer duly consults his interest, he will strive to have (rather than to be) "some pumpkins." The vegetable to which we allude comprises the many varieties known under the names of pumpkin and squash, or the cucurities (and the same set).

It is not too late to put in pumpkin and squash, or the cncurbita family.

It is not too late to put in pumpkin and squash seeds, as the plants require heat to make them do well, and not much is gained, unless they are started in hot-beds and transplanted, by planting before the ground is well warmed.

For feeding animals, the kind called the Yankee pumpkin Connection pumpkin for it heat. It is pumpkin, Connecticut pumpkin, &c., is best. It is hardy and productive. It will grow on almost any tolerably dry situation, yielding, of course, in proportion to the richness of the soil and the care in cultivation. It is common to plant it in confields, where it often florishes to such a degree that after the corn is cut down the corner is cut. where it often flourishes to such a degree that after the corn is cut down the ground is thickly dotted with the golden fruit. It may be asked if it does not injure the corn crop. Perhaps it does, but generally the value of the pumpkin far overbalances this. If the pnmpkin vines are so thick, however, as to deeply shade the ground before the corn is eared, the sun's rays may thereby be too much intercepted to keep the earth in that state of warmth most favorable to the growth, and especially to the filling of the corn. The pumpkins, therefore, should not be planted too thick. Aside from the effect they have on the corn, the vines will bear better when they have ample space for light and air. Sometimes pumpkins are allowed ground by themselves. In such cases, a piece of sward may be taken, any coarse, strawy manure plowed In, not very deeply, and the seeds planted ten or twelve feet apart, leaving two plants in a hill, after they are well started. They will need but little attention except to keep the weeds down with the cultivator. The weeds near the plants must be taken out by hand.

For feeding cows late in the fall and the forepart of winter, especially for the production of butter, no crop is so valuable in proportion to its cost as the pumpkin. It is also good in a raw state for fattening cattle, and when cooked and its juice somewhat absorbed by meal, stirred in at the instant the cooking is given by the pumpkin. It is also good in a raw state for fattening border to the cooking it is accellent for fattening border. ing is done, it is excellent for fattening hogs. It may be used from the middle of October to the middle of December, but should be protected from frost.

The term squash is more frequently applied, in this section, to varieties of this family which are chiefly used for calinary purposes. But who can define the exact difference between pumpkin and

We have several kinds of summer squashes, the best of which is the long warty variety. a skillful pastry-cook it makes a tolerable substitute for pumpkin or winter-squash pie.

Of the winter varieties of squashes, the New England marrow has held the preference. It is a hybrid produced several years since between the Valparaiso and some kiud which we have never seen fully described. It has been a very profitable crop in the vicinity of Boston. Ten tons to the acre is a good yield, though fifteen have been produced. They sell at wholesale, in autumn, at from $20 to $25 per ton, giving an income of $200 to $300 per acre. The crop has, however, of late years, been regarded as rather uncertain, owing to the attacks of an insect called by the late Dr. Harris the squash-vine Ægeria. The fly deposits an egg, commonly near Egeria. The fly deposits an egg, commonly near the root of the vine, from which a maggot soon pro-ceeds and bores its way into the pith, where it con-tinues to feed till fully grown. The insect is some-times so numerous that many vines are destroyed by them. The vine of the marrow sqnash is very soft and tender, and on this account affords the worm and tender, and on this account affords the worm more easy ingress, and is more subject to attack than any other kind.

A variety called the Marblehead squash, produced by Mr. Ephraim Brown, of Marblehead, and largely cultivated by him, appears to be very valuable. It is a cross between the marrow and some West India variety, but it is now as well fixed in type as It is a cross between the marrow and some West India variety, but it is now as well fixed in type as the marrow. It is larger than the marrow, yields more weight to the acre, keeps as well or better, and is almost equal in quality. Several cultivators of this kind have obtained as much per ton for it as was brought at the same time by the marrow. Some specimens tried in the family of the writer have proved very fine. proved very fine.

Another hybrid recently produced from the marrow (we do not know the stock on the other side), is the Wilder squash. It was originated by Mr. Stetson, of Bridgwater, and named for Hon. M. P. Stetson, of Bridgwater, and named for Hon. M. P. Wilder. It has received a premium from the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. In shape and size it considerably resembles the Marblehead squash. We have tried only one specimen, which was equal to any squash we ever tasted — thick-meated, fine-grained, very sweet, and dry. good kind - hard The Canada crook-neck is a and prolific — keeps well. It is much less attacked by the insect above alluded to than the marrow, and for this reason has latterly been substituted for that variety by some cultivators. It is not equal in quality to the kinds before described.

The old-fashioned striped crook-neck is still somewhat cultivated. It is more hardy than most of the kinds of better quality, and with proper care keeps kinds of better quality, and with proper care keeps through winter and spring. It is however accountl less profitable than many others.

All the curcubita tribe have a great tendency to hybridize; and to preserve a variety in its purity it is necessary to have it grown at a distance from any other. How far intermixture might be effected in this way is not posititively known, hut we should not feel sure of the purity of a variety if there were others in bloom at the same time within half a

Of the value of the pumpkin and squash as an article of human food we need not speak, for every true-born Yankee understands it. The fame of bumpkiu-pies is wide spread. But it may be well to state, as a matter of history, that since the intro-duction of the marrow squash and the kinds produoed from it, the most esteemed pumpkin-pies are made of squash. The English lugh at us for eating these articles, and seem to think a taste for them must be acquired by being subjected to various in-fluences belonging to a residence here. But we be-lieve that even the most inveterate prejudices have given way at once, when a good sample of the mar-row squash, properly prepared, has been fairly tried.

JEFFERSON CIRCUIT COURT-Criminal Term. May 26 .- This morning the Grand Jury closed its protracted labors by returning indictments fur murder against the following persons: Edward Randolph, Wm. Joyce, Lawrence Prince, Henry Jones, P. W. Bibb, Richard Elston, Jeremiah Morris, Nicholas Bemar, Joseph Levi, Wm. Garwin, Robert Roberts, Trip Estis, J. F. Bell, and John Litzay. Edward Randolph is charged with producing the death of Bill, the slave of David Pendleton, by hanging; the remainder are indicted as accessories to the murder.

The following report was presented to the Court by Henry Dent, Esq., foreman on the part of the Grand Jury:

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY OF JEFFER-SON COUNTY.

GRAND JURY ROOM, May 26, 1857.

To the Hon. Wm. F. Bullock:

SIR-In closing our investigations it has appeared not inappropriate to the members of this grand jury that we present for the consideration of this Hon. Court and the public a statement, which, though not inteuded to be a report of our proceedings, will furnish an indication of the impressions made upon our minds, through these investigations, in reference to those crimes and misdemeasurs which it has been those crimes and misdemeators which it has been our duty to inquire into.

It has been remarked by some of the oldest members of our body that never before had it fallen to their lot to examine into and determine upon a longer and darker catalogue of crimes against the majesty of law and the peace of society. Murders, some of them seamingly objectless and unprovoked—affrays them seemingly objectless and unprovoked—affrays resulting in death, arsons, robberies, swindling, and other crimes and misdemeanors, ending in riot and hloodshed, make up the fearful list, which, day by day, it has been our painful duty to investigate.

Each good citizen will doubtless ask himself—Whence this urprecedented increase of crime, and Whence this ur precedented increase of crime, and where the remedy? It is not for us to answer these questions. They demand, and imperatively demand, a solution from the aggregate wisdom and intelligence of the whole body of the people.

It is much to be regretted that our labors have resulted so meagerly of tangible evidence in reference to the identification of those persons engaged in the mob of Thursday, the 14th May. More than a week has been occupied by us in the patient investigation of the circumstances attending this deplorable outbreak of popular fury and violence. We have, it is true, been enabled to inculpate several persons with a degree of certitude satisfactory to ourselves, who true, been enabled to inculpate several persons with a degree of certitude satisfactory to ourselves, who were prominently active in defying the authority of law. Still, where so many were engaged, it has appeared to us in the highest degree singular that so few should have been identified as participators in an open and flagrant violation of legal requirements. It has been proven before us, beyond peradventure of doubt, that the party whom all would suppose to have been most deeply interested in retaliating the fearful injuries he had sustained, and which, it is to presumed, he houghly thought had been inflicted be presumed, he honestly thought had been inflicted by the incarcerated negroes, did, before nightfall of the evening of the outbreak, prepare to return to his home in the county, apparently yielding obedience to the majesty of the law. But, unfortunately, he was not permitted to carry out his design. He was soon surrounded by a refractory set of men, urging him to lead them on to attack the jail. The language of these men, as reported to us, was calculated to blind young Joyes to the perception of the obedience due by him to the law of the land. They ap-pealed against his following what they termed a cowardly and pusillanimous course. The injuries which he had sustained were dwelt upon with an evident purpose to exasperate bim beyond reason, and it is scarcely to be wondered at that the object they had in view was finally accomplished. While therefore, there may naturally exist in the publi mind a disposition to overlook in some measure the excesses of Mr. Joyes, considering the circumstances by which he was surrounded, there can be no palliation of the guilt of those who urged him to the retaliation of his supposed wrongs, and who assisted him in the perpetration of the treasonable acts which have brought him and them under the survivillance of the legal tribunals.

We cannot refrain from expressing our opinion that the energy of those officials, whose duty it is to preserve the public peace, was not exerted in the in-cipiency of the outbreak with that degree of prompt-ness and foresight which should characterize the conservators of public order, and which the occasion not less than our unfortunate experience of similar manifestations within the past three years impera-

We would not be understood as implying against these officials any willful dereliction of duty, but simply that they exhibited a want of concert of action, and of forethought in not preparing for an emergency, when ample time was given them for such preparation. such preparation.

the mass of information before us, comin from the mass of information before us, coming from a large number of witnesses, we cannot but conclude that a proper officer, at any time between six and half after seven o'clock of the evening of the outbreak, could, by the simple force of authorihave secured the services of a sufficient body of reliable citizens to protect the jail and the prisoners therein contained.

It has been said that this mob was principally composed of persons who are not citizens of Louisville. Our investigations lead us to believe that, though several of the prominent leaders of the country. though several of the prominent leaders of the ountry, the vast majority of those composing the body of the rioters were turbulent youths from our own midst. This fact leads us to the consideration of that unfortunate element of our population, from whose mad actions, as we have suffered in the past, we should particularly guard in the future. This whose mad actions, as we have suffered in the past, we should particularly guard in the futnre. This grand jury, composed, as it is, of individuals holding different shades of political opinion, do unanimously deprecate any public action which shall tend to lay the onus of past disturbances at the door of one political organization or another. We speak but as citizens of a Commonwealth in which most of us were born and reared, and as having at heart the true interests and, above all, the good name of Louisville. We feel that a unity of sentiment and of action, amongst the influential, the norigital, and of action, amongst the influential, the npright, and the law-abiding portion of our people, is indispensable in order to remedy the evils under which we have sufin order to remedy the evils under which we have suffered and are suffering so much. In this view of the case, we conceive that there can be but one mind amongst all with whom there remains a love for peace, a respect for law, and a regard for the paramount interests of society. It is incumbent on us to retrieve the character of our city. It is incumbent on us to retrieve the character of our city. It is incumbent on us to show to our fellow-countrymen that the supremacy of law and order amongst us can and will in future be maintained. It is incumbent on us to indicate clearly and distinctly to the turbulent and riotons class, whose lawless acts have brought upon us an almost crushing weight of disgrace, that they are amenable to the law, and that for its infingement they shall be made to feel the full measure of its retributive justice. It may, hy some, be considered as beyond our province to proffer advice, or to address words of caution to those having in charge the police regulations of the city. Nevertheless, we cannot conclude this document without respectfully but urgently demanding of these generates. theless, we cannot conclude this document without respectfully but urgently demanding of these gentlemen, in the name of that public whose servants they are, an exhibition of zeal and energy on their part in behalf of law and order, commensurate with the reckless disregard of all patriotic feeling and all duty with which the vicious and the turbulent would trample them under foot. When indications all duty with which the vicious and the turbulent would trample them under foot. When indications of an outbreak are at all apparent, let them at once prepare for the emergency, and if such a course appears to them necessary, or even prudential, let them call upon their fellow-citizens without delay, for such aid as may be requisite to preserve the peace. No good citizen will refuse his aid; and we are not amongst those who have any doubt of the general patriotic sentiment and respect for law existing in the minds of the great body of the people. Policemen, of necesslty, no less than soldiers in active service, are surrounded by danger as an element. They should be aware, on assuming the duties imposed by the office, of all its obligations and requirements. Holding, as we do, that they occupy positions analogous te that of a sentinel on the outpost of a beleagured camp, having under their guardian hip the lives and property and even the guardinating the fives and property and even good name of the corporation, we do not hesitate to say, that no danger should deter them from endeavoring, first, to uploted the untherity with which they are clothed for the benefit of the public, and, in the second place, if forced to yield, in prosecuting an unwearied search after the perpetrators of the an unwearied search after the perpetrators of outrages, together with their aiders and abettors.

outrages, together with their aiders and abettors. God forbid that we should recommend the adoption of measures of extrems severity towards that misguided portion of the populace, which to a great degree in all cases make up the materials of the mob, where there is a reasonable probability that its dangerous elements can be dispersed through means of a milder nature. We are thoroughly convinced, however, that, when persuasion and menace are found to be ineffectual, a resort to summary measures is absolutely indispensable, in order to preserve the very existence of the social fabric.

Our institutions are of such a nature as to require at the hands of each citizen, not only an exact com-

Our institutions are of such a nature as to require at the hands of each citizen, not only an exact compliance with the letter and the spirit of the law, but also a hearty co-operation on his part with the officers who are charged with the duty of carrying out its mandates and decisions. If laws are badly administered, the remedy is not to be found in traitorously usurping to ourselves the right to correct what we may conceive to be the ferrors of those who are appointed, under the constitution, to be the dispensers of justice. Anarchy would as speedily follow upon such a course of action, as would the confingration the application of the incendiary's torch.

RIVAL TO THE MAMMOTH CAVE.—The following description of a large cave in Maries county, Mo. has been communicated to the Jefferson Inquirer by M. Meyer Friede, who explored it on the 14th inst. It is known as the Big Saltpetre Cave:

The cave is in Maries county, one and three quarters of a mile from the Gasconade river, on a creek called Cave Spring Creek, in township 38, section 21, range 9, west. He went in the cave, guided by Mr. R. H. Prewett, a young man about 25 years old, who was born and raised about a quarter of a nile from the place.

In front of the entrance was a small stone house which the old settlers thought was built by the Indians, but is now in ruins.

The entrance goes straight in the rock on a level with the surrounding surface rock, is about 100 feet wide and in the center, about 25 feet high, arched. Messrs. Friede and Prewett entered the cave for mear 400 feet, where it narrows to about 25 feet wide by 15 feet high, and presents the appearance of an ante chamber; from there they passed into a large chamber about 100 feet in height, where three galleries branch off—they then passed into the left gallery, which ascends near 20 feet on a bed of saltpetre. This gallery is called the dry gallery and is theat 500 feet in length; the height veries from 100 bout 500 feet about 500 feet in length; the height varies from 100 to about 30. The ceiling and sides are composed of solid rock. Near the end is a large round chamber, which Mr. Prewett calls the ball room, and that gentleman states that his father had given balls in the chamber frequently; the last was in the winter 1850, at which time there was about 18 or 20 per-1850, at which time there was about 18 or 20 persons there. They went in the morning and stopped all day, and arrived at home in the evening, cooking and eating their meals in their subterranean saloon, and had a merry time of it.

After exploring this chamber they retraced their steps and passed into the right branch (or fork) of the cave, where they ascended a rise of about 12 feet and entered another gallery, the end of which was not known; they however, explored about three-not known; they, however, explored about three-quarters of a mile.

Mr. Prewett states that he has been in this gallery over two miles and did not get to the end of it. In this gallery the dropping of the water has formed stalactites of the most beautiful conceptions; statues of men and animals, and large columns, supporting the most beautiful arches, form the ceiling, which is from tifty to one hundred feet high, which forms several chambers of various sizes. The ceiling is decorated with different groups of spar, forming a variety of figures which represent the inside of a cathedral. The size of some of these chambers is about 40 feet wide by over 100 feet high, and look like rooms in some old feudal castle. They were afraid their lights would give out, and, therefore, retraced their steps to the main chamber, from which they ascended the middle gallery, where or of the cave, and has a fall of about six feet, audfalls in several round marble basins. They ascended these galleries and found them-selves in several beautiful chambers leading from one to the other, in which, however, they did not penetrate to more than 600 feet. There is a strong draft of air setting in from the entrance; inside of the cave the atmosphere was mild. The chambers are all of unusual height and

They went in at one o'clock and emerged from the unstrung by apprehensions of the comct. ÆSTHETICS OF DRESS.—We have plenty of flip-pant denunciations of fine clothes, and an abundance of grave animadversions on the sin and folly of extravagance in apparel, but scarcely an essay can be found touching the asthetics and morale of dress, as constituting a study worthy to be ranked among the tine arts, not less than architecture, music, or sculp-ture. It was an observation of Lavater that persons ture. It was an observation of Lavater that persous habitually attentive to dress display the same regularity in their domestic affairs. "Young women," says he, "who neglect their toilette, and manifest little concern about their apparel, indicate in this very particular a disregard of order; a mind but little adapted to the details of honsekeeping; a deficiency of taste and of the qualities that inspire love. The girl of eightgen who desires not to please will be a slut and a shrew at twenty-five." It is a great mistake in women to suppose that they may safely throw off all care about dress with their celibacy, as if husbands had less taste than suitors; or as if wives had less need than mistresses of the advantage if husbands had less taste than suitors; or as if wives had less need than mistresses of the advantage of elegant and tasteful apparel. An old writer says, with a hearty emphasis, "It is one of the moral duties of every married woman always to appear well dressed in the presence of her husband." To effect this, however, expensive attire is by no means The simplest robe may evince the wearer's taste as truly as the most costly gown of moire antique. But how rare a quality is good taste! In the mere matter of propriety and harmony of colors, there is matter of propriety and harmony of colors, there is room for a treatise that has yet to be written by some one thoroughly proficient in the asthetics of dress. Even the simpler laws, though generally understood are constantly neglected. Some of these canons as laid down in an English poem of the last century are worth quoting, as well for the good sense of the dogmas as for the quaintness of the verses. To brunettes he recommends high colors, rose, orange, or even scarlet, thus: rose, orange, or even scarlet, thus:

"The lass whose skin is like the hazie brown, With hrighter colors should o'rcome her own."

To rosy cheeked girls, he permits blue and the color of the sea: "Let the fair nymph in whose plnmp check is seen A rosy blush be clad in cheerful green."

Cautioning pale women against vernal hnes, he

"Ladies grown pale with sickness or despair, The sahle's mournful dye should choose to w so the pale moon still shines with purest light Clad in the dusky mantle of the night."

On Saturday, May 16th, Mr. George W. Hewes, of Boston, was drowned in Mousem river, Spring Vale, at the age of twenty-six years. While ont npon the water with a friend, the boat filled, and, as he was unable to swim, he perished.

THE MUNICIPAL REVOLUTION IN NEW YORK .-The New York limes of Saturday gives the following account of the revolutionary and disorganizing state of affairs in that city. It says:

The troubles of our police rulers are as thick as ever. Mr. Matsell was not called upon yesterday by Mr. Carpenter to surrender his office and the ap-purtenances thereof to the new police commissioners, purtenances thereof to the new police commissioners, but he will be requested to do so to-day. The new commissioners tried Messrs. Horrigan, Files, and Evans, of the Fifth ward police, for insubordination. None of them appeared, and all will to-day be dismissed. The old commissioners met yesterday also, and peremptorily dismissed Captain Squires, of the Eleventh ward, appointing Lieut. Croft in his place. They made also some other appointments, promo-Eleventh ward, appointing Lieut. Croft in his places. They made also some other appointments, promotions, and dismissals deemed requisite by the peculiar state of affairs. Ex-Capt. The resolutions passed at the meeting of the Second Division on the evening previous were fully indorsed. Matters were quiet in Brooklyn. But our corporation counselor, Busteed, in the Supreme Court, special term, before Judge Birdseye, moved for a modification of the injunction granted at the instance of Richard S. Roberts, some time ago, restraining the corporation from placing time ago, restraining the corporation from placing $10,000 at the disposal of Mayor Wood, to enable him to resist the laws recently passed by the Legislature affecting the city and county of New York, as that the common council may exercise the proper power of a legislative body. It has been announced in some of the papers with a good deal of flourish that some of the military companies of the city had declared their intention to stand by Mayor Wood in his resistance to the laws of the State. The rumor is a calculate to the laws of the State. The rumor is a calumny upon these spirited and patriotic organizations. It grows out of the fact that a portion of the members of a target company, called the Citizens' Corps, not recognized by the authorities, and forming no part of the military force of the State, had passed resolutions of this character. The results military companies of the city are under the orders of the Commander-in-Chief, the Governor of the State, and will sustain the law if necessary hereafter, as they have done heretofore, against all who may attempt to nullify or overthrow it. BATHING.—Once a week is often enough for a decent white man to wash himself all over; and whether in summer or winter that ought to be done with soap, warm water, and a hog's hair brinsh, in a room showing at least seventy degrees Fahrenheit.
Baths should be taken early in the morning, for it is then that the system possesses the power of reaction in the highest degree. Any kind of bath is dangerous soon after a meal or soon after fatiguing exercise. No man or woman should take a bath at the close of the day unless by the advice of a famithe close of the day unless by the advice of a fami-ly physician. Many a man in attempting to cheat his doctor out of a fee has cheated himself ont of his life: ave it is done every day.

The best, safest, cheapest, and more universally accessible mode of keeping the surface of the body clean, besides the once a week washing with soap, warm water, and hog's hair brush, is as follows:
As soon as you get out of bed in the morning, wash your face, hands, neck, and breast; then, in wash your face, hands, neck, and breast; then, in the same basin of water, pnt your feet at once for about a minute, rubbing them briskly all the time; then, with the towel, which has been dampened by wiping the face, feet, &c., wipe the whole body well, fast and hard, mouth shut, breast projecting. Let the whole thing be done within five minutes.

At night when you go to hed, and whenever you get out of bed during the night, or when yon find yourself wakeful or restless, spend from two to five minutes in rubbing your whole body with your hands as far as yon can reach in every direction. This has a tendency to preserve that softness and mobility of akin which too frequent washings of the skin will always destroy.

That precautions are necessary in connection with the bath-room is impressively signified in the death of an American lady of refinement and position lately after taking a bath soon after dinner; of Surgeon Hume while alone in a warm bath; and of an eminent New Yorker under similar circumstances, all within a year.—Hall's Journal of Health. skin will always destroy.

DEATH OF MAJOR T. F. PURCELL .- We are deeply pained to hear of the death, at Edwardsville, Ill., of Major Thos. F. Purcell, formerly an assistant editor of the Louisville Journal. He died on Sunday, after an illness of only a few days.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS-Tuesday, May 26.-Fred. Schon, for improper exposure of his person, was fined $20.

Alexander Grant, a lithographic printer all the way from Yorkshire, being intoxicated a few nights since, entered a gentleman's house and had to be ejected. Work-house two months in default of $200 bail.

Nicholas Miller had stolen the enormous amount of seventy cents' worth of lumber from Captain Knapp. Bail in $100 to answer the charge of petty larceny.

Solomon Swede, an old dilapidated rag-picker, was presented as a suspected felon. Work-house one month.

Milton Miller and Audrem Hurm made the tour of the upper part of the city, yesterday, attempting to pass a $5 counterfeit note on the Southern Bank of Kentucky. They presented it at least one dozen stores and beer-shops. Miller is a cigar maker, and Hurm a shoemaker, on Wall street. Both committed to answer a charge of felony.

We are requested to announce that there will e a meeting of the American Congressional delegates and alternates, at the Union Engine House, this evening, at 71/2 o'clock. Important business will be brought before them.

We are gratified to welcome again as a citizen of Kentucky Hon. Garnett Duncan, who reached our city on Monday to resume a permanent residence in this State. Mr. Duncan has among us a host of warm friends who will gladly welcome him among

WASHINGTON, May 25. Jonathan S. Jenkins, United States Consul at Navigator's Island, was arrested this morning on the steps of the State Department, immediately after his interview with Assistant Scoretary Appleton. the steps of the State Department, immediately after his interview with Assistant Sceretary Appleton. The warrant on which he was arrested was issued by Judge Goddard, on a charge of piracy, sworn to by Dr. Van Calupe, for seizing by force of arms and selling a large amount of property belonging to citizens of the United States, including the cargo of the ship Eudoras, in the harbor of Apia. It appears from papers filed in the department, that, on his arrival there he formed a Court of Amiralty, styling hunself Vice Commander, and appointed Associate Judges, Marshals, &c. The property alledged to have been sacrificed amonnted to about $70,000, while that belonging to the V. P. Chapin & Co., and A. Van Camp was valued at over $100,000.

Mr. Jenkins was committed to jail to await a requisition from the Governor of New York, where the case must be tried, he having first touched the soil of that State on his return to this country.

AFFAIRS IN UTAH .- Hon. B. G. Ferris, formerly a U. S. officer of Utah, has an interesting letter in the N. Y. Times in regard to that Territory. After giving data from which he shows that the population can under no circumstances exceed 40,000 souls,

The time has, I think, come when decisive meanres should be taken to remove this plague-spot from the map of the country. But how is this to be done? It is very easy to talk of desirable results, but not quite so easy to produce them. Some are for marching a large army into Utah and having a Mormon war outright. The true policy of the country toward them does not, in my judgment, require any such emergency. I do not believe the Mormons will ever assume an attitude of open resistance unless driven to it by the necessity of self-defence. The leaders are perfectly awarc not only without pain. All cases can be suited by Dr. Jones at the Galt House, where he remains two weeks longer by request, i. e. till June 9th. Chronic diseases treated also.

The Dusseldorf Gallery has been removed to its The Chronic diseases treated also.

The Dusseldorf Gallery has been removed to its The Chronic diseases treated also. seducing soldiers from their allegiance, secret assassenteing solutions from their anguance, secter assas-sination by poison, cutting off stragglers disguised as natives, and such other means of destruction as a direct influx from the infernal regions may sug-gest to their willing minds. It is all-important, therefore, that the officers and men sent there should be selected in reference to character rather than numbers. A large force is not needed, but one respecta-ble in all respects certainly is.

Many will doubtless insist that there is open rebellion there now, and refer to the destruction of the public books and records, the violent breaking up of the District Court, and other things of like nature. But in this they are mistaken. These acts of ture. But in this they are mistaken. These acts of violence did no doubt occur, but at the hands of irresponsible ruffians, whose acts Brigham Young will responsible rnffians, whose acts Brigham Young will disavow, and every one of them will triumphantly prove an alto it frought to trial. Already has Ferramorg Little, one of the saintly gang, undertaken to impeach the statement of Judge Drummond. But let no one doubt the verity of the Judge's statement. I know he has correctly stated in regard to Little himself, who was Mayor or Marshal of the city while I was there, and about whose antecedents, rich of Mormon odor, I was well informed.

There is a great mass of discontent in the Territory, which, by prudent management, may be turned to good account. I assume this to be the case, because I found it to be so in 1853, and the same causes cause I found it to be so iu 1853, and the same cause which operated then are in greater activity now. In reference to this, a careful selection of a Govern-

In reference to this, a careful selection of a Governor is a matter of great importance.

I cannot forbear saying a few words about polyganny. I deem it unwise at present to make any direct effort to suppress this practice. It will be found very difficult to do so, by the ordinary common law proceedings by indictment and trial, because the juries will be composed wholly or in part of Mormons. Such efforts, attended with failure, would only increase the evil. On the other hand, it may be discouraged and finally extinguished by indirect means, leaving the inhabitants in freedom on the subject. In the first place, every Mormon officer, from Brigham Young down, should be speedily removed. This will deprive them of much of the means of supporting their harems. The three thousand and odd dollars which the head of the hierarchy annually draws from the jpublic treasury go a great way in furnishing the numerous Mrs. Youngs with provender.

In the next place, when females who are worth saving, and who are now entirely at the mercy of and who are now entirely at the mercy of the Church, shall find themselves protected from its oppression by a competent Governor, backed up by a reasonable amount of the ultima ratio, it will, in my judgment, work a gradual and sure disconrage-ment of the offensive practice.

AN ORDINANCE

Regulating the collection of city taxes for the year ending March 9, 1858, prescribing the duties of collectors and fixing their compensation.

SECTION I. Be it ordained by the General Council of the City of Louisville, That each Collector charged with the collection of the city taxes shall receive as compensation for his services one per cent. on the first forty thousand dollars collected and paid over to the Treasurer by him, one and a quarter per cent. ou the next thirty thousand, and two per cent. on the residue, but the compensation of neither of said collectors shall in any event exceed fifteen hundred dollars.

Sec. 2. Each Collector charged with the collection of the aforesaid taxes shall, on the 23d day of July, 1857, pay into the City Treasury not less than one per cent. of the aggregate amount of said tax bills placed in his hands, and not less than one per cent. per cent. of the aggregate amount of said tax bills placed in his hands, and not less than one per cent. of said aggregate amount on each succeeding Thursday in the month of July, and not less than two per cent. of said aggregate amount on each Thursday during the mouth of August, and not less than two and one-fifth per ceut. on each Thursday during the month of September, and not less than three per cent. of said aggregate amount on each Thursday during the month of October, November, and December, and not less than four per cent. of said aggregate amount on each Thursday during the months of January, February, and March up to and including the 9th day of said last named month. Each collector, at each of the periods above designated, shall pay into the Treasury the entire amount then collected by him whether the sum so collected by him is greater or less than the amount above required to be paid by him.

Sec. 3. Should either of the collectors fail to pay into the Treasury the taxes placed in his hands for collection, first deducting his commissions, errors in tax bills, and delinquent list, as required by the General Council, at the times and in the sums required by the second section of this ordinance, there shall be deducted from his compensation or commissions two per cent. upon all sums not paid as required, and all settlements made with him shall be made according to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 4. Each of said collectors shall at all times nade according to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 4. Each of said collectors shall at all times when required to do so by the General Council submit to the Mayor for examination his books and the state of his collections.

Sec. 5. Should either of said collectors be removed from office or resign or otherwise yearst his office he from office or resign or otherwise vacate his office, he shall forthwith return to the Mayor all uncollected tax bills in his hands.

Sec. 6. Neither of said collectors shall receive anything in payment of taxes except such money as is received on general deposit by the banks of the city of Louisville. the city of Louisville.

Sec. 7. The Collectors shall have power at any time after the tax bills are listed with them for collection to levy ou and sell the personal property or slaves, if any such can be found in the city of Lonisville, belonging to the persons owing the taxes or upon the personal property belonging to any tenant and found in or upon the premises, of any person owing the taxes; and if no personal property of either owner or tenant can be found in said city then the collectors shall levy on the lot and improvements and offer the same for sale at public auction, before and offer the same for sale at public auction, before the Court House door, between the hours of 10 o'clock, A. M., and 3 o'clock, P. M., of the day designated in said advertisement, and after said levy is made, if the owner of the property be a non-resi-dent, the Collector shall if practicable ascertain his or her whereabouts, and send a written notice to said owner that he will make a sale on a given day unless all claims for taxes are liquidated prior there-

Sec. 8. If the real property levied on by said Collectors belongs to a resident of the city of Louis-ville or Jefferson county it shall be advertised in one of the daily newspapers printed in Louisville once a week for three successive weeks, and if it belongs to a non-resident once a week for six successive weeks before the day of sale, and the Collectors shall be allowed for advertising each lot, or lot nd improvements, twenty-five cer sale twenty-five cents, and for each levy twenty-five cents, which fees shall be added to and collected with said taxes. If the Collector shall levy on perwith said taxes. If the Collector shall levy on per-sonal property belonging to the owner of the real estate, or to his tenant, for his taxes, he shall ad-vertise the same daily for ten days in one of the daily newspapers printed in Louisville, and shall be allowed for each advertisement the sum of twenty-tive cents, and for each sale the sum of twenty-five cents, together with the actual costs of printing, storage, draying, &c., which fees and costs shall be added to and collected with said tax bill; and shall within two weeks after the sale, whether real or percouncil a full and written account of his proceedings as directed by the 22d section, article 6th, of the
